John Reaume: Spiders of Eastern North America

Spiders have a bad reputation but, in reality, these fascinating creatures are very valuable to us and have an amazing life history. Come learn about spiders in our area. John Reaume will talk about their unique anatomy and many interesting behaviours. Webs are not just for catching prey! We will review some of our common species and give tips on how to observe them as well as review some of the more current resources available. Understanding more about spiders will make you appreciate them more - its true!
